SUMMER SPOTLIGHTS

Process & Inspiration

As part of the Gallery's tenth anniversary celebrations, we are holding fortnightly spotlight exhibitions, each featuring the work of a small group of artists.

Our third of the Spotlight shows brings together the work of four artists for whom the medium and the concept are of equal importance.

Artist duo Dangerous Minds work with recurring themes of light, beauty in decay, abandonment, and antiquated typography. Their practice is driven by duality and contrast producing work that is aesthetically beautiful and intellectually stimulating.

Laura Beaumont's love of books and of miniature figurines come together in her distinctive book sculptures. Here she uses the pre-existing media of antiquarian books to explore the subtext of human interaction, creating little dioramas inside vintage books, her miniature figures inhabiting entirely believable worlds.

Mixed media artist Keith Haynes takes much loved vinyl records and creates works that embody and celebrate popular music culture. From portraiture and vinyl words to logos and maps, the works are always conceptually satisfying and meticulously finished.

Sculptor Andy Hasler has an instinctive feel for his medium and subject and is able to faithfully convey their character whilst making no compromise on the sculptural form. The shapes and colours that he achieves and the perfect finish are a testament to his meticulous and thorough practice.
